It will go at once to the Senate, but it is not certain that President Wilson will approve the bill.

TOWN ABOVE
THE CLOUDS

Sued For By Descendants Of
A. C. McCamey, Numbering Sixty-seven.

LOOKOUT MOUNTAIN CLAIMED

Former Citizen of Hopkinsville Descendant of Original Owner.

The greater part of the land on which Lookout Mountain, Tenn., is situated has been claimed by sixty-seven heirs of A. C. McCamey, who died many years ago. The heirs, who are suing, expect to establish the fact that A. C. McCamey bought, at a nominal price, from James A. Whitesides, in 1844, several hundred acres of land on the brow of Lookout Mountain and the land on which the town is situated is part of the purchase. Mr. McCamey lived but a few years after the purchase and his heirs have filed suit in the Chancery Court and have employed half-a-dozen able attorneys to conduct the litigation on their part.

Mr. H. F. McCamey, an uncle of Chief of Police Roper and Rhoden Roper, of this city, is a descendant of A. C. McCamey, but is not numbered among the sixty-seven heirs named in the petition filed in chancery.

Mr. McCamey moved from this city to Princeton about 25 years ago. He is now in his 83d year and enjoying splendid health. Though identified with the interests of Princeton he is still loyal to Hopkinsville and watches with keen interest the rapid growth and prosperity of the town which he served without compensation as a member of the council and in many other ways.

About 1880 the establishment of free schools for white children was brought before the people. When the privilege of voting on the question was secured the hardest fought battle that Hopkinsville has ever experienced was begun. The large property owners opposed the establishment of the schools and the poorer class favored them. Both sides were determined and one of the two newspapers lined up with the heavy taxpayers. Henry Blumenstiel, now an invalid, and Mr. McCamey were among the leaders for the schools and to them, and a few others now living, is due the credit of fighting every inch of ground to the closing of the polls for giving to Hopkinsville the nucleus of our present public schools system, of which every citizen is proud, and which has done more to make Hopkinsville a city of the third class than all other contributing causes combined.

HEART FAILURE

Causes Sudden Death of Aged
Lady of Roaring Springs.

Mrs. Ann Dalton, one of the oldest ladies of the Roaring Springs neighborhood, died suddenly at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. A. Ledford, Wednesday night. Death was due to an attack of heart failure. She was suddenly stricken at the supper table and passed away in a very short while.

Mrs. Dalton was a native of Virginia and was 81 years old. She was a member of the Baptist church and was a lady held in the highest esteem by every one who knew her. Two children, R. T. Dalton, of Longview, and Mrs. Ledford survive. The interment took place in the family burying ground Thursday.

SILAS BUTLER
ASKING AID

His Friends In The County Will Make Affidavit As To His Character.

MANY BELIEVE HIM INNOCENT

Young North Christian Man Is Fighting For Freedom
In The West.

Interest in the case of Silas Butler has been aroused among his friends and relatives by the receipt of a letter from him or his attorney at Woodward, Okla.

It will be remembered that young Butler was arrested here and placed in jail January 26 last. The arrest was made by Sheriff Smith upon receiving a telegram or letter from Sheriff Lou Thomasson, of Woodward, Okla., and the charge was murder.

The murder was committed in the insane asylum at Woodward and an old insane capitalist was the victim. On Thursday following Butler's arrest Sheriff Thomasson arrived and Butler accompanied him without the formality of securing a requisition, saying that he was innocent and would easily prove it.

Three other men were arrested on the same charge and after an examining trial were released. Another man was said to have been implicated in the murder, but skipped to Texas and at last accounts had not been arrested.

When Butler was arraigned for trial and after all evidence had been heard, he was committed to bail. Information since received here was to the effect that the insane capitalist was not murdered but died from some organic trouble. After hearing this the relatives and friends of Butler thought that the unfortunate incident in the life of the young man had finally closed. But not so. Sheriff Smith who has known Butler from childhood, is heading a list of friends who will make affidavit as to the good character of Butler and send it to Woodward to be used in the further defense of the young man.

OWLS TO HOOT

Again Next Tuesday Night In A Smoker.

The Owls will have a smoker next Tuesday night at which time another big class will be initiated. The class of 36 last Tuesday night brought the total up to 128 and about 32 more are awaiting initiation. The following is a list of those "put through" at the last meeting:

R. G. Guy, C. F. Moore, Alex Walker, Nim Seay, J. I. Wells, Dan Hartman, J. G. Roach, J. M. Wilder, E. L. Gouhot, W. E. Pyle, Marvin Carroll, Wilbur Beard, D. R. Simpson, W. L. Endsley, F. D. Hancock, J. S. Pursley, J. W. Reeves, Lucian Carpenter, W. H. Draper, S. L. Cowherd, Marshall Waters, Ed Higgins, J. M. Higgins, W. P. Winfree, C. R. Atkins, R. L. Carter, W. T. Gomer, L. H. Tappan, B. F. Vass, R. L. Moseley, J. T. Stump, L. D. Basham, E. J. Roper, O. L. Henderson, J. A. Ragsdale and F. A. Hayes.

WOMAN TELLS
HER STORY

Disappointed Office-seekers Only
Witnesses Against Blind
Senator.

CONSPIRACY IS CHARGED.

Looks Like a Frame-up In Game of Big Politics.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Feb. 13.—Mrs. Minnie E. Bond told a jury here yesterday of indignities which, she declared, she suffered at the hands of United States Senator Thomas P. Gore, of Oklahoma, and described in detail an attack which she alleged occurred at a Washington hotel March 24 last, the basis for the suit on trial in which Mrs. Bond asks $25,000 in damages. Three other witnesses, Dr. J. Earp, Kirby Fitzpatrick and T. E. Robertson, also testified today in corroboration of Mrs. Bond. Mrs. Bond's husband and the three witnesses named were all in Washington seeking offices and were not endorsed by Senator Gore.

Mrs. Bond testified that she sought an appointment with Senator Gore in her husband's interest and because "of the men about his office" she asked him to come to her hotel and she met him in Jacobs' room and she said he caught hold of her, threw her across a bed and broke her eyeglasses. As the door was not fastened, the other witnesses appeared at an opportune moment. Gore's defense will be that the woman arranged the meeting had her co-conspirators at hand, and the tussel was a frame-up in which she seized the blind Senator and deliberately planned to compromise him.

Mrs. Gore sat by her husband's side. Mrs. Bond stated that she had previously several times met the Senator at his office in the interest of her husband, and charged that once he seized her and at another time caught her by the foot.

SLUSHY STREETS.

Snow and Rain Mingle Into Ice Cold Slop.

A snow three or four inches in depth covered the ground Thursday evening and yesterday morning the precipitation gradually turned into a rain that made the streets exceedingly disagreeable for pedestrians. Only a few people observed the snow ordinance before it began to rain and nearly all of the sidewalks were covered all day with two inches of slush. Indications last night were that it would soon be melted off.

Youngest Divorcee.

Married at 13, divorced at 15, is the experience of Bessie Bennett, who was granted a divorce in the third circuit court Tuesday from her husband, Howard Bennett. The wife testified that she was treated most cruelly by her husband and that her two years' experience in the holy bonds of matrimony were very distasteful. —Tennessean.

Postponed.

SORE ON THE
NEW PIKE

Subscribers Who Helped Build
The Tobacco Road Have Brought Suit.

ALLEGED NOT WELL DONE.

A Large Number of Citizens
Sue To Recover The Money Paid.

A suit was filed yesterday by a number of subscribers to the turnpike fund on the Tobacco road, the object of which is to compel the Fiscal Court to build a better pike or refund the money paid by some and relieve others of payments subscribed.

The pike was four miles long and people along the road subscribed about $2,500 of the cost. The Fiscal Court let the contract to Banks Campbell, col., and the petition alleges that it was not built according to contract and that the road should be made better or the money of subscribers refunded.

Among the large number of plaintiffs are E. R. Tandy, C. E. Barker, J. A. McKenzie, W. M. Carneal, P. C. Sallee, C. W. Garrett, Allen Burke and Dr. S. J. Rollow.

Breathitt, Ailensworth & Breathitt represent the plaintiffs.

15 New Suits Filed.

Yesterday being the last day for filing suits for the approaching six weeks term of the Circuit Court, there was something like a rush in the office of the Circuit Clerk. Fifteen new suits were filed Thursday and up to 3 o'clock Friday, as follows:

E. L. Peck vs. J. V. Henderson.
The McCall Co. vs. The O. G. Sprouse Co.
J. Z. Watts vs. Mae Vaughn.
Minnie Sims vs. Sam Sims.
Jacob Friedman, etc. vs. Isaac Seigal, etc.
Betsy M. Ware vs. City Bank & Trust Co.
Vatler-Lynn Milling Co. vs. Legora Barker.
P. T. Frazier vs. Hopkinsville College.
J. J. Gilkey vs. W. W. Kimmons.
Tony Datillo vs. L. & N. Railroad.
A. B. McDonald vs. J. P. Thomas.
Clint Drake vs. Arthur Morris.
Christian County vs. Forbes Mfg. Co.
India Baxter vs. Eugene Wood, etc.
Standard Fashion Co. vs. Bassett & Co.

MRS. STELLA NORTINGTON

Formerly of This County Died
In Memphis Monday.

Mrs. Stella G. Northington, widow of Flavius J. Northington, died at the home of her nephew, Mr. L. C. Jones, in Memphis, Tenn., Monday, Feb. 9th. Mrs. Northington lived for many years near Newstead, Ky., and later resided in Hopkinsville for some time. She had lived in Memphis for several years. She had many friends in this section of the State who will be saddened to learn of her death.

Gregory-Sullivan.

Miss Elizabeth Sullivan and Mr. William M. Gregory, of Hopkinsville, Ky., were quietly married yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, the Rev. Father D. F. Parker officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Kate Sullivan, and has a number of friends in the city. —Nashville Tennessean.

Preaching at Rich.

There will be preaching at Rich Christian church tomorrow (Sunday) morning at 11 o'clock by the Rev. R. O. Wickham.

DECISIVE
STEPS TAKEN

The Y. M. C. A. Building Will
Be Repaired and Occupied Immediately.

WORK COMMITTEE NAMED

An Enthusiastic Mass Meeting
Followed By Action Of Directors.

An enthusiastic meeting was held at the Y. M. C. A. building Thursday night and in spite of the snowstorm raging 50 or 60 men and boys attended. Six of the twelve directors and two of the seven trustees were present. Jas. West presided and after some discussion, all seeming to be of one mind, it was moved by Rev. C. H. H. Branch and seconded by Mayor F. K. Yost that the directors be requested to repair the building at once to an extent that would enable it to be opened to members without delay. It was explained that the association had on hand $200 or $300 available only for work on the building. The motion passed by unanimous vote.

There is a mortgage of $3,000 on the property, worth in its present condition more than $15,000, and there are street warrants and other small claims amounting to about $300. The cash on hand makes the net incumbrance $3,000. The interest is paid. Immediate repairs on the furnace are needed and several hundred dollars will have to be spent to put the building into condition to be used, even in part. When it is turned over for use, it is believed the young men themselves will work actively to complete it. Chas. M. Meacham produced a subscription paper with 70 pledges of $10 for first-year privileges, to be paid in advance. A. H. Eckles also had a paper with more than 200 names pledging to pay 50 cents a month dues for one year. As there was a discrepancy in the amounts, it was thought best to get renewals of both lists on a new basis and to that end a meeting of the directors was called for 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

The directors met yesterday morning, with all present. After talking matters over in a general way the board was a unit for opening the building at once. The consensus of opinion was that the time had arrived, and on motion the sum of $100 was appropriated for the purpose of making the needed repairs.

Lucian H. Davis, John Stites and Col. E. B. Bassett were appointed a committee of three to co-operate with a committee of three persons not members of the board, to make arrangements for opening the association as soon as practicable. The latter committee is composed of Rev. C. H. H. Branch, Dr. F. H. Bassett and M. G. Moore. The combined committee was empowered to appoint sub-committees to make a canvass for members and solicit funds. This will be done at once.

The directors are James West, chairman; John Stites, L. H. Davis, A. W. Wood, Geo. D. Dalton, E. B. Bassett, W. T. Fowler, W. P. Winfree, Jno. T. Edmunds, C. H. Tandy, F. W. Dabney, and Ira L. Smith. The trustees are M. C. Forbes, W. P. Winfree, Ira L. Smith, R. E. Cooper, James West, G. W. Wiley and F. W. Dabney.

Family of Suicides.

Miss Eleana Zimmerman, a stenographer, 32 years old, leaped from the roof of a fifteen-story building in the retail district of Kansas City and was dashed to death. Miss Zimmerman's friends could give no reason for her despondency on her part. Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Zimmerman, the girl's parents, committed suicide. The mother hanged herself and the father shot himself.

A box sent by express to John

of age and has had four husbands,
one of whom she has married twice.
She has sued her present husband order that they may again become reconciled." Evidently the judge is not in favor of too many "trial marriages."

Miss Bana Douglass, of Stratton,

her woodcraft and her knowledge of game to enable her to live and to come forth fully clad and in fine fighting trim. She is a fearless ranger of the forest and her friends say she will accomplish her task. She will not be lonesome.

The Miller bill prohibiting the is-suanee of free railroad passes was passed by the House with but little opposition. Under the bill's provisions no person may ride on passes except employes, railroad officials and members of their families actually employed. Any state, county, city or school officer who uses a pass
shall, on conviction, forfeit his office.
The user and giver of the pass are alike culpable, the penalties being from $100 to $2,000 fine. Although it has been stated that 52 members of the House have railroad passes,
only five voted against the bill. Mr.
Duffy made a speech in favor of the bill and had a spat with Meyers of Covington, in which Meyers got the worst of it.

IN THE WRONG CLASSROOM

Football Player Badly Mistaken as to Meaning of Signal Given Out by the Coach.

Bob Maxwell has returned to Chicago and newspaper work from his usual autumn vacation as a football coach at a Pennsylvania college, says
the Inter Ocean. He brings back with him several new football stories,
told with that delightful stutter
whose typographical representation is impossible. Here is one:

Owing to a variety of causes the material available for the team was not extraordinary. Among it was a huge student with thews hardened by manual labor who looked as if he might make a good guard. At any rate, he had the weight and muscle.

The team was lined up for signal practice. Maxwell yelled, "42-17-38!" The line moved forward on the play, all except the big guard,
who stood still and after a moment
held up his hand, saying: "I know the answer!"

"Well, what is it, you big dub," angrily inquired Maxwell. "Ninety-seven," answered the big guard triumphantly. He thought he was in a class in mental arithmetic! The surprise saved Maxwell from comments unfit to print in a family newspaper.

THAT LOVE WHICH GIVES ALL

Ancient Writer Describes True Affection, Bestowed Without Stint or a Thought of Self.

If he love thee with his mind and heart, he loveth thee with his eyes, with his tongue, with his feet, with his hands and his body; for all these parts of a man's body be obedient to the will and mind. He loveth thee with his eyes, that look cheerfully
on thee, when thou meetest with him, and is glad to see thee prosper and do well. He loveth thee with his tongue, that speaketh well by thee behind thy back, or giveth thee good counsel. He loveth thee with his feet, that are willing to go to help thee out of trouble and business. He loveth thee with his hands, by giving some almsdeeds, or with any other occupation of the hand. He loveth thee with his body, that will labor with his body, or put his body in danger to do good for thee, or to deliver thee from adversity. And if thy neighbor will do according to these sayings, then thou mayest think that he loveth thee well; and thou, in likewise, oughtest to declare and open thy love unto thy neighbor in like fashion, or else you be bound one to reconcile the other till this perfect love be engendered amongst you.—Hugh Latimer.

ONLY ONE ELLEN TERRY.

There is only one Ellen Terry, only one woman that I ever met who has that delightful inconsequential way of saying things. I met her one day when she was last in New York.
She was just coming out of a shop.
"How is dear Joe?" she asked, referring to a mutual friend. "He is well and happy," I answered. "Is his hair as red as ever?" she asked.
"Yes, quite," I answered. "Thank God!" she exclaimed fervently,
jumped into her cab and drove away.
She didn't mean anything, she didn't care whether his hair was red, white or blue, but that was Ellen Terry's way of saying things, and I laughed
as I walked up the street every time
I thought of it.—Exchange.

PRESERVE HISTORICAL RELICS.

France, a country rich in historical monuments, has enacted a law
looking toward their preservation.
It is decreed that an inventory of all historical monuments and buildings in France shall be taken during the next three years, with the view of discovering those in need of restoration. The law also decrees that private owners shall be held responsible for their upkeep. Under this law it will be no longer possible for any rich American to acquire the cathedral of Notre Dame, pull it down, and rebuild it in New York, Kalamazoo or Oshkosh for the purpose of attesting his interest in history and art.

QUEEREST OF LIVING THINGS

Naturalists Have About Given Up
Their Efforts to Explain the Turtle
and Its Ways.

According to Macdonald, a Scotch naturalist of wide repute, the turtle is the strangest of all living things and the most unfathomable. He can live in the water as well as out of it, and can seemingly go for indefinite lengths of time without air or food or light.

He is neither fish nor flesh nor fowl, and yet he has the characteristics of all three. As for his eating, it seems quite superfluous, for he can remain shut up in a barrel for a number of weeks and emerge at the end of the time apparently none
the worse for the lack of food and light and air.

The baby turtle seems also just as indifferent to its surroundings as its parents are. As soon as it comes forth from its egg it scuttles off to the sea. It has no one to teach or guide it. In its brain seems implanted the idea that until its armor becomes hard it has no defense against hungry fish, and so it seeks shelter in gulf weed and feeds unmolested until its armor gets hard.

By the time it weighs 25 pounds,
which occurs the first year, it knows that it is far from all danger, for after that no fish, however hungry or well armed with teeth, can interfere. The turtle immediately withdraws its head into its neck between the two shells, and all intending de-vourers struggle in vain to impress it.

TURNED IT TO PROFIT

"What did the gas company do when your committee complained to them about their poor service?"
"They made light of it."

WHAT THEY LACKED.

Two men on a train were apparently old acquaintances, and they were in a jovial mood. Both were gray, but each had a luxuriant head of hair. Near them sat a stout party with a shining dome that was almost destitute of hirsute covering.

The two friends exchanged fac-tious remarks about silver lacks, then indulged in some pleasantries about the "thinning of the thatch," with casual references to doorknobs and billiard balls, much to the amusement of the passengers, but to the evident discomfiture of the bald-headed man.

The talk finally developed into an argument of the cause of baldness, and after considerable jocularity, the pair turned to the pearly-pated
stranger, and one said:

"My friend and I have been discussing the cause of baldness, but we can't seem to agree. Would you mind telling us what you regard as the real cause of baldness?"

The stranger wheeled about, eyed
his questioners fiercely and snorted:
"Brains!"

COAL MINER DIED A HERO.

A hero of the pit was discovered
by a search party in the Senghenydd mine, where 270 victims of the recent Wales colliery disaster are still entombed. The explorers reached the Pretoria district and found thirty bodies, amongst them being a little boy and a miner around whose neck his arms were still clinging. One of the search party said the position of the bodies showed that the man was carrying the boy, in a brave attempt to save his life, when he was overtaken by the fumes.

MAKES HOME ON OCEAN.

The travelers who boast about the number of times they have crossed the Atlantic should hearken to the story of Donald McCave, a greaser on the steamship Oceanic. He has made 389 voyages to America and back. It is estimated that he has traveled 2,400,000 miles on the Atlantic ocean. He made 250 trips on one vessel, the Teutonic.

ALL TIMES TO BE ENJOYED

Youth in Its Arrogance Wastes Moments in Sympathizing With Those Not in Life's Springtime.

Every little while there comes to the surface an enthusiast with a dream like that which lured the Spaniards when America was young—the dream of perpetual youth. The latest was a westerner who promised himself, by reason of a certain regimen of diet and exercise, a life span of at least 200 years, with a sneaking hope of eternity.

But is it only the morning of life that is worth living? Don't you suppose that white-bearded grandpa, snoozing on the porch in the shade, or watching the infants play, has as much fun out of life as the giddy lad or maiden?

To be sure, it is a different kind, which happily is one of nature's ways of insuring interesting variety. But, his rough work done, as the sun slowly goes to meet the far horizon, he lives anew in the young life about him and, out of passion's ashes, builds a ripe philosophy.

Every time in life is a good time to be alive, for always you can feel, see and learn. We are not at all convinced that ripe old age isn't the best estate of all; for then the heart is mellowed, the mind matured and the spirit seasoned, while in the treasury of memory are stored innumerable joys, the better for the enchantment which distance lends.

GREENLAND PARENT

"My sweetheart is coming to call tonight."
"Well, I want you to go to bed by the first of March; that is late enough to sit up with any fellow."

FAVORS AMBIDEXTERITY.

Gen. Sir R. Baden-Powell showed a marked artistic skill when yet a child. His family treasures a spirited drawing which he made of some Arabs, leading camels through the desert. The leader was represented leaving pieces of paper to mark his track for those who were following. Thus early the head of the Boy Scout movement showed his scouting intuition. As a boy of twelve he had made a collection of excellent sketches which his mother showed to Ruskin, expressing concern, however, that her son drew with his left hand. The master, after examining the sketches with evident pleasure, said: "Madam, let your boy draw with which hand he likes." The general has remained ambidextrous and encourages scouts to cultivate this useful faculty.

VENTILATION MUCH NEEDED.

Ventilation of motion picture theaters urgently demands attention in most of our cities. In Chicago, which has about 600 of these institutions, with a daily attendance of about 500,000, the department of health has adopted the plan of issuing certificates to all theaters having ventilation systems of proved efficiency, and urging the public to patronize no theaters where these certificates are not displayed. Let us hope, says the Scientific American, the next object of attack will be the hermetically sealed street car.

SHE COULDN'T.

"Kate, I believe you could write your name in the dust on that piano," said the lady of the house.
"No, I couldn't, ma'am," replied the new girl.
"But you must not contradict me, Kate."
"Why not, ma'am? I can't read nor write."

NO MUSIC.

Bacon — That snakes are "charmed" by music is denied by a scientist who has been investigating in Ceylon and who says that their actions are inspired by curiosity.
Egbert — Our friend the scientist probably tried the bagpipes on 'em.

Don't Worry--Eat.

Memphis, Tenn.—Mrs. Emma D. Looney, of this place, says: "I suffered misery for nearly eight years, but since taking Cardui, I am much stronger, and haven't missed a single meal. I hardly know how to express my gratitude." Don't worry about your symptoms—Cardui doesn't treat them. What you need is strength. Cardui helps you get it. Take Cardui, because other tonics and medicines do not contain its peculiar and successful ingredients, imported especially for its manufacture. Half a century of success, has stamped Cardui with the seal of public approval. During this time, Cardui has benefited a million women. Why not you? Try it, today.

IN HOUSE-MOTHER'S HANDS.

Of course it goes without saying that the heaviest artillery of our future warfare against disease will be directed toward its prevention rather than its cure. The best and only radical cure of disease consists in preventing its spread and wiping out the conditions which alone render its existence possible—poor food, dirty water, bad drainage, dark and ill-ventilated houses.

More and more of our energy and brain power will be devoted to the cheerful, positive task of keeping our bodies so strong and wholesome and vigorous that they can defy disease, instead of patching them up after they are sick.

Food, rest, sunshine, exercise, bathing, massage—these are the sheet-anchors of our new materia medica.—Dr. Woods Hutchinson.

EAGER FOR EDUCATION.

The percentage of students who are earning their way is increasing every year. According to a report of the student employment committee of Columbia university, the young men of that institution made over $37,000 during the vacation months in one summer. The academic students made the best showing, totaling $12,540, while the law students took second place with $10,000.

TWO IDEALS.

"A poor man's idea of the simple life is a little farm that will support him."

"Yes?"
"And a rich man's idea of the simple life is a country estate that is a dead loss of $100,000 a year."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

"Well, I thought I could get you some stuff that would be exceedingly useful to you."

"There is one thing," said the broker, after a moment's thought, "which you can get me, and it will be of great use to me."

SLOWLY GAINING IN FAVOR

Cremation, as a Method of Disposing of the Dead, is Finding Adherents Here and Abroad.

The first body cremated in America, in accordance with the desire of the deceased, was that of Col. Henry Laurens, who died on his plantation near Charleston, S. C., 121 years ago. In his will Colonel Laurens, who had been a valiant officer in the American revolution, expressed his desire for cremation in the following language: "I solemnly enjoin it upon my son, as an indispensable duty, that, as soon as he conveniently can after my decease, he cause my body to be wrapped in twelve yards of tow cloth, and burned until it be entirely consumed." This request was carried out and marked the beginning of cremation on this side of the Atlantic, although it was not until 1876, after half a century of agitation, that the first modern crematory was built at Washington, Pa. It was first used for the incineration of the body of Baron de Palm in December, 1876. There are now eighty crematories in Italy and Germany.

CURIOS BRING HIGH PRICES

Documents of Colonial Days Become Eagerly Sought Prizes of Collectors.

One of the most interesting reminders of early days in Massachusetts, certifying that a certain Puritan was not guilty of witchcraft and signed by many prominent men and women of that time, was sold for $65 at the auction of Eliot Danforth's collection of autograph letters at Henkel's auction rooms, 1304 Walnut street.

The document, which is very old, declares that Winnefred Holman was known by the signers to be "diligent in her calling, and frequents public preaching and gives diligent attention thereunto."

Spirited bidding was notable throughout the sale. The highest price paid was $250 for a grant of a house and lot in Albany by Richard Nicolls, the first English governor of New York. A letter signed by John Alden, one of the Plymouth pilgrims, sold for $190. The document was signed in the cabin of the Mayflower.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

ITS CHAPLAIN IS EDITOR.

Here's something with which the newspaper men may soothe their souls: In the state penitentiary are about 875 prisoners. The institution publishes a little weekly paper called the Penitentiary Bulletin. In most states the prison paper is edited by the prisoners, but in the Kansas institution this is impossible because there is not an editor in the entire list. Consequently the chaplain is compelled to add the duties of editor to other tasks. Is there another state in the Union where the editors are such model citizens?—Abilene Reflector.

HAS NOT LENGTHENED LIFE

Medical Science Saves Weak Children, but More People Die as Middle Age is Reached.

The Canadian minister of finance, discussing before the annual meeting of life insurance presidents in New York the question of death in middle life, touched the heart of our most serious medical problem, the New York Herald states. Much has been said of the lengthening of average human life by medical advance, but it is literally true that the expectation of life for those of forty years of age and over is less than it was a generation ago.

The reason is not far to seek. Our death rates have been greatly lowered in recent years by the saving of the lives of weakling children in their very early years. These, spared now, grow up to fall victims in early middle life to degenerative diseases, premature old age, kidney and heart troubles, greatly reducing the expectancy of life among adults.

The facts are a warning to those who think that modern medical progress has in any way lengthened ordinary life. There is, if anything, more reason now than ever for the exercise of all kinds of precautions for there are many more in the population less able to stand these than there were when nature's cruel, perhaps, but effective mode of bettering the race by the elimination of the delicate children had not been disturbed by medical science.

Four Eclipses in 1914.

Four eclipses, two of the sun and two of the moon, are to take place during the present year. The first is scheduled for Feb. 24th. It will be an annular eclipse of the sun invisible in North America. The only persons who will have an opportunity to view it at all will be residents in the most southern parts of Patagonia and New Zealand and they will see it only as a small partial eclipse. During the second week in March there will be a partial eclipse of the moon which will be visible in practically every part of the U. S. and Canada. In August will come a total eclipse of the sun which will be visible as a small partial eclipse in Eastern Canada and the New England states. On Sep. 3 and 4, there will be a partial eclipse of the moon which will be visible in the far western part of the U. S. and Canada.—Ex.

Inspiration in Regret.

The life without regret is the life without gain. Regret is but the light of fuller wisdom from our past, illuminating our future. It means that we are wiser today than we were yesterday. This new wisdom means responsibility, new privileges; it is a new chance for a better life. But if regret remain merely "regret," it is useless; it must become the revelation of new possibilities, and the inspiration and source of strength to realize them, each other; as love increases prudence.—William C. Jordan.

Accounts Transferable.

A couple of pickpockets had been following a rich-looking man for some minutes, when they saw him enter a lawyer's office. "What shall we do now?" asked one. "Wait for the lawyer," replied the other. "He'll have the swag and the other follow the empty pockets."

NOT ALL CAN SEE A JOKE

Many Notable Instances on Record Where Intended Humor Has Been Taken Seriously.

Some half-dozen years ago a writer in Washington wrote an article stating that the secretary of agriculture was investigating the possibility of raising skunks for their fur, and believed in skunk farming lay great possibilities for money making. The article was a pure fake. It was intended to be a subtle joke. It resulted in nearly swamping the agricultural department with inquiries about skunks, how to raise them and that sort of thing. It excited the possibilities and after a time some of the wrath of the secretary. But in several parts of the country persons began the breeding of skunks for their fur in spite of the unpleasant atmosphere usually surrounding this variety of animal. And some of those who went at it actually made money. Others became almost outcasts. Few persons care to be intimate associates of the skunk farmer, you know. The reason will readily suggest itself. But the joke was taken seriously, you see. Some persons have a habit of taking things literally. They are habitually literal themselves. Their sense of humor is undeveloped. What of it? Oh, joking with some persons is a serious business, isn't it—one calling for extreme caution.—Detroit Free Press.

HE KNEW

First Kid—Say, what is the oil of youth?
Second Kid—Why, strap oil, of course.

TWO WITNESSES.

Every week they gave a new drama of the wild and woolly west. The particular play was a blood-curdler of that character, and the stage was pitch dark and two men were fighting a duel. One could hear the knives clash together and the men stumbling around on the stage, but could only faintly distinguish the forms of the actors. After a while there was a thump on the floor, and the villain hissed, "Ah, ha! Rudolph Tetherington, I have you now, and no one nigh to see me do the deed!" Then the drummer hit the bass drum a blow and the calcium man turned on the light, and away up on a rocky pass the heroine was seen standing. "Coward!" she cried. "Me and God is here!"

CONCRETE SNOW FENCES.

Concrete has been made use of by the Italian government for the construction of snow fences to protect the railroads in the district east of the Apennines, where the snowfalls are very heavy and the slides carry everything before them. The fence consists of heavy posts of concrete spaced 6½ feet apart and joined by three-inch planks, which slip into grooves in the side of the posts. This fence is said to resist with absolute safety a uniform thrust of 20 pounds to the square foot or a concentrated horizontal thrust of 600 pounds at the top of each panel of the fence.

UNANSWERABLE.

A schoolboy home for the holidays, wishing to inspire his little sister with awe for his learning, pointed to a star and said:

"Do you see that little luminary? It's bigger than this wide world."

"No 'tain't," said his sister.

"Yes, it is," returned the youthful scolar.

"Then why is it that it don't keep off the rain?" was the triumphant rejoinder.

DRY WASTE.

Church—I see parties sent out by the French government to explore the Sahara desert have reported that the obstacles in the way of sand are not so great as was supposed.

Gloham—They certainly couldn't have found a way of watering stock out there.

WOMAN WOULD NOT GIVE UP

Though Sick and Suffering; At Last Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Richmond, Pa.—"When I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was in a dreadfully rundown state of health, had internal troubles, and was so extremely nervous and prostrated that if I had given in to my feelings I would have been in bed. As it was I had hardly strength at times to be on my feet and what I did do was by a great effort. I could not sleep at night and of course felt very bad in the morning, and had a steady headache.

"After taking the second bottle I noticed that the headache was not so bad, I rested better, and my nerves were stronger. I continued its use until it made a new woman of me, and now I can hardly realize that I am able to do so much as I do. Whenever I know any woman in need of a good medicine I highly praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. FRANK CLARK, 3146 N. Tulip St., Richmond, Pa.

Women Have Been Telling Women for forty years how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health when suffering with female ills. This accounts for the enormous demand for it from coast to coast. If you are troubled with any ailment peculiar to women why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? It will pay you to do so. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

FARM ANIMALS

Grown In Kentucky In 1913 More Valuable Than In Indiana or Tennessee.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The Department of Agriculture made public today statistics for 1913 on the value of crops and farm animals in the various States. Enumerated crops in Kentucky considered by the department, which take in only a portion of those grown in the State, are valued for 1913 at $110,654,000, as compared with $116,848,000 in 1912.

Farm animals in Kentucky in 1913 are valued as follows: Cattle, other than milch cows, $15,178,000, as compared with $14,374,000 in 1912; milch cows, $16,999,000, as compared with $15,132,000; sheep, $5,321,000, as compared with $5,280,000; swine, $11,604,000, as compared with $11,630,000; horses, $45,629,000, as compared with $46,072,000; mules, $27,022,000, as compared with $27,480,000.

Tennessee and Indiana have a greater showing than Kentucky in the value of 1913 crops, but the State bests her neighbors in the total value of farm animals.

Owl Smoker.

Each member of Hopkinsville Nest is invited to be present at Odd Fellows Hall Tuesday evening at 7:30 to enjoy a smoker, and witness the initiation of another class into the mysteries of Owldom. If you have not signed an application you can get it until that time for a charter fee of $5.00. Remember you get a sick and accident benefit of $6.00 per week, $100 at death, the best medical attention for yourself and family for 50 cents per month.

CLARK'S BUSINESS TALK.

How many men and women that you come in contact with daily tell you that they only move or do things by inspiration? Those who accomplish great things, inventive geniuses, writers, actors, preachers, teachers, bankers, lawyers, doctors, surgeons, mercantile princes, steel kings, coal barons, civil engineers, are classed by the great mass of people as inspired men and women.

I have often wondered whether there was a man in the grocery business in the United States that was inspired. Dream his day dreams of buying and selling tons upon tons of things to eat. Feeding the great mass of people, and giving them good food at popular prices, saving them money, building a business that he could be proud of and feeling that he was accomplishing something worthy of his best efforts.

Groceries are sold for such a small profit that it seems these dreams could not come true, yet Nashville has a man, Cincinnati, St. Louis, New York, Chicago, Atlanta, who commenced in a small way and run great chains of stores, and then I feel good when I think of these men and must believe that they received their inspiration daily by hard work and constant intelligent application to business.

It's a great work, an intelligent work, one that develops the mind and the body. Always prying into the mysteries of Food Products, how they are made, where they are made, cost of manufacture and profits made on them. Grocerymen have always been considered as the men who worked hard for no compensation except the glory of work. In latter years the Grocery business has been upon a higher plane and the man who manages an up-to-date business, feeding some 2,500 or 3,000 people a day has something to think about, if he wants to retain his trade and please them all.

It's real genuine fun for us to do business. We love our profession and consider it upon as high a plane as any other profession.

With your help and co-operation we expect to build a business right here in Hopkinsville, that you can bring your visitors to see and with pride say that there is no other store like it in Western Kentucky. We carry the stock, it's well bought. We give values to all of our patrons. We want to please.

$13,500 For a Horse.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 13.—The biggest sale so far this year of trotting horses was announced when James R. Magowan, of Mt. Sterling, Ky., sold to John W. Trimble, of the same place, the noted trotting stallion Mainleaf (3) 2:08½ for $13,500. Mainleaf was the champion two-year-old this year on the half mile track, and joint holder of the world's record as a three-year-old. Several attempts were made to buy the horse for foreign governments.

Two New Records.

The latest military Zeppelin airship attained an average speed of 65 miles an hour on her eight hours' trial trip from Friedrichshafen Saturday.

ON FRENCH INLAND WATERS

Homes of 45,000 Persons Are Floating on Rivers and Canals in That Country.

Inland navigation on the water highways of France is much more important than one might suppose from the situation of the streams. A census taken in 1912 brought to light the fact that there were 15,141 boats of three tons and over, capable of carrying over 4,000,000 tons. As regards capacity, 78 per cent. can carry more than 300 tons; 13 per cent., 200 to 300 tons; 5 per cent., 100 to 200 tons, and 4 per cent., 3 to 100 tons.

Of the boats in use, 1,700 were of iron. These were encountered chiefly on the Seine, the canals of Paris and the Marne, and in the neighborhood of the Rhine.

There is an interesting international phase of this humble, but by no means unimportant, branch of French navigation, due to the connection between the waterways of France and those of neighboring countries. Among the boats covered by the census 83 per cent. were French, 14 per cent. Belgian and 3 per cent. German. The Belgian boats, having an average capacity of 317 tons, are seen on almost all the waterways of the northern, eastern and central regions of France, but chiefly in the frontier departments.

FAD HAS SOME DRAWBACKS

"Engagement Tooth," That Threatens to Become Popular, May Not Be the Success Looked For.

Speaking of fads, there's that newest one in New York—the engagement tooth, you know. An engaged girl started it by having a small diamond placed in a gold setting placed as a crown to one of her front teeth—all to be paid for by her prospective husband. By and by we may distinguish the engaged girl by her glittering tooth—and the married woman by two of the same. But it is ruled that for each engagement and each marriage a tooth must be decorated, dentists will be overworked and some women won't have teeth enough to go around—that is, they won't unless there is a falling off in the divorce line of activity. Of course the new idea is freakish. But it's worse. Because when you see a girl who has no diamonds in her smile you'll know at once that she never has been engaged. At present when finger rings are used it is easy for a girl to smile knowingly. But with the evidence tacked to her teeth every smile will be a revelation, won't it?

WORTH KNOWING.

The militia law provides: "That the militia shall consist of every able-bodied male citizen of the respective states . . . and every able-bodied male of foreign birth who has declared his intention to become a citizen, who is more than eighteen and less than forty-five years of age, and shall be divided into two classes—the organized militia, to be known as the National Guard . . . the remainder to be known as the reserve militia." The organized militia number 122,377 men, the reserve militia somewhat over 16,000,000 men.

FAULT OF THE OFFICE BOY

Disgraced Man Had to Think Quickly, and You Know the Saying About a "Poor Excuse."

A young married man of Muncie, who has well defined sporting proclivities when his wife is out of the city, but who at other times is so tame he would eat out of an infant's hand, sought, the other day, to celebrate the last night of his temporary freedom, his wife being due home on the morrow, by attending a poker party at a friend's home. He not only attended it but imbibed freely of various and sundry beverages until, unused as he was to intoxicants, he was in such condition about two o'clock in the morning that two friends in the same shape thought it well to accompany him home. Once arrived there, all three took turns about for a few minutes trying to find the right key to the lock and then to make the proper insertion of it. They were about to give it up as a bad job and go to sleep among the lilac bushes when the door opened and a white-robed figure appeared. It was friend wife.

"Why, John, what do you mean by this?" she shrieked.

"Thash all right, m' dear—what day's this, anyway?" he replied.

"It's Friday, you brute!"

At this John broke into tears.

"S all fault calendar, m' dear," he sobbed as he sank down on the stairway and pillowed his head in his arms. "Y' know I wouldn't disgrace y' f'r worlds. Boy at office forgot tear leaf off calendar an' I ought was still Thursday."—Indianapolis News.

ALL AT SEA.

He was a tall, angular individual, who had strayed up Michigan avenue from the Park Row station.

Taking in the sights on the boulevard, a sign announcing Richard Carle in "The Doll Girl" caught his eye.

Strolling toward the ticket office, he bought a ticket in the Studebaker's gallery for 50 cents. The ticket man had forgotten all about the stranger, when at nine o'clock he reappeared at the box office and said: "Say, young feller, when does this show start?"

"Why, it started an hour ago."

"Well," replied the wanderer, "why don't you let that stairway down, so that I can get up there?"

The stranger had been standing under the fire escape waiting for the sectional stairway to be let down.—Chicago Record-Herald.

AMERICAN FRIGATE'S RECORD.

One hundred years ago the United States frigate Congress, in command of Capt. John Smith, returned to Portsmouth, N. H., after a seven months' cruise in search of British prizes. The cruise had been a most successful and profitable one. Three weeks after putting to sea the Congress captured a British brig of ten guns, and with her a cargo of 14 tons of copper. Two days later she fell in with and captured another British brig with a large cargo of hides and tallow. The most valuable prize of all, however, fell to the Congress on October 25, when she captured the British ship Rose, laden with wine and potatoes. After putting 6,000 gallons of wine into the water casks of the Congress and filling her hold with many tons of potatoes, Captain Smith destroyed his prize, after transferring her officers and crew aboard his own ship.

STANLEY BILLS INDORSED BY THE PRESIDENT AND JUDICIARY COMMITTEE

Anti-trust—Measures of the Administration Presented to Congress Same as Those Previously Introduced by Congressman Stanley.

Washington, Jan. 25.—[Special.]—In the text and provisions of two of the most important of the administration
anti-trust bills, introduced in congress
last week, Representative A. O. Stanley has found justification for the many months he spent in investigating trust relations and in writing his report and recommendations thereon. As the parallel below will show, the administration bills on interlocking directorates and on giving damage benefits to individuals in government antitrust suits, approved last Thursday by President Wilson after having been drafted by the judiciary committee, are almost verbatim reproductions of similar measures introduced long ago by the Kentucky representative.

In the interlocking directorate measure nearly all the language of Mr. Stanley's bill of April 5, 1911, is used in the Clayton bill of Jan. 22, 1914,
and his penalties of $100 a day or one year's imprisonment, or both, are reproduced outright. In the individual benefits measure Mr. Stanley's bill of Aug. 2, 1912, is used almost in its entirety by the anti-trust experts of the present administration.

Stanley Finds Justification.

Thus, after a long wait, Mr. Stanley is able to demonstrate that his pioneer activities against interlocking directorates in 1911, and the report of his committee which investigated the United States Steel corporation in 1912
have become the gospel of the president and his advisers in 1914. The proof presented in the parallel columns below is so absolute as to leave no shadow of doubt behind it.

Representative C. C. Carlin of Virginia and other members of the judiciary subcommittee, which framed the administration bills, freely admit that they used Mr. Stanley's old time language because it was the best available. Of all the bills before them they selected as sections of the current measures (which are to be law) the text of the 1911 and 1912 bills which bore Mr. Stanley's name. The 1911 interlocking directorate bill, which has been lifted bodily by the lawmakers of 1914, is entirely and solely the work of Mr. Stanley. The individual benefits bill was drawn by him and the other Democrats on the Stanley steel committee and was participated in by Louis Brandeis and other experts.

The parallel between the Stanley and Clayton interlocking directorates bills shows that the only important addition of the Clayton bill is that which prohibits interlocking bank directorates. Mr. Stanley made a fight for this as a separate measure in the house
currency caucus deliberations in 1913,
and only at the suggestion of the president was it omitted from the bill and used as a separate measure of 1914.

Chronology of Bills.

The following chronological history
shows how the Stanley bills of yesterday became the Wilson laws of today:

April 5, 1911, the Stanley interlocking bill was introduced.

May 4, 1911, the Stanley steel investigation was authorized.

Aug. 2, 1912, the Stanley Steel committee reported the interlocking bill of April 5, 1911, and the new individual benefit bill.

Jan. 20, 1914, the president recommended that congress enact these measures among others.

Jan. 22, 1914, the Clayton bills including the Stanley text were introduced.

A reading of the following parallel will show to what extent the Stanley text was lifted after three and two years, respectively:

DIRECTORATES.

STANLEY BILL.

(Introduced April 5, 1911.)

"From and after June 30, 1911, no person who is engaged as an individual or as a member of a partnership, or as a director or other officer, or an employee of a corporation, in the business, in whole or in part, of manufacturing or selling railroad cars or locomotives, or railroad rails, or structural steel, or mining and selling coal, shall act
as a director or other officer or employee of any railroad company which conducts an interstate commerce business.

"Sec. 2.—That any person who shall be guilty of a violation of this law shall be punished by a fine of $100 a day for every day during which he shall act as a director, officer or employee of the railroad company, or by imprisonment for such period as the court may designate, not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court."

INDIVIDUAL BENEFIT BILLS.

CLAYTON BILL.

(Introduced Jan. 22, 1914.)

"Sec. 12.—That whenever in any suit or proceeding, civil or criminal, brought by or on behalf of the government under the provisions of this act, a final judgment or decree shall have been rendered to the effect that a defendant, in violation of the provisions of this act, has entered into a contract, combination in form of trust or otherwise,
or conspiracy in restraint of trade
or commerce among the several states or with foreign nations, or has monopolized or attempted to monopolize, or combined with any person or persons to monopolize,
any part of the trade or commerce
among the several states or with foreign nations, the existence of such illegal contract, combination
or conspiracy in restraint of trade,
or of such attempt or conspiracy to monopolize, shall, to the full extent to which such judgment or decree
would constitute in any other proceeding an estoppel as between the government and such person, constitute as against such defendant conclusive evidence of the same facts and be conclusive as to the same issues of law in favor of any other party in any other proceeding brought under or involving the provisions of this act."

Glow Worm Beats Lamps.

Between the glow worm and the incandescent lamp there yawns a gap which will some day be bridged by the combined aid of the physicist, chemist, engineer and metallurgist.
The luminous creatures of nature,
considered as lighting machines, operate at an efficiency of about 95 per cent. The best incandescent lamp of the day has an efficiency of about 2 per cent. Clearly, we have still much to learn from the firefly.—Scientific American.

Generosity and Courtesy.

Only the generous man is truly courteous—he gives freely, without a thought of receiving anything in return. The generous man has developed kindness to such an extent that he considers everyone as good as himself
—and treats others not as he should like to be treated (for generosity asks nothing), but as he ought to be treated.—Drew's Imprint.

Incipient Blaze Discovered In Waste Basket At Forbes'.

While Secretary Geo. E. Gary, of the Forbes Manufacturing Co. was at his dinner Thursday evening about 7 o'clock, E. G. Peterson, whose office is across the street from the Forbes Building, saw a fire creeping up around the rolltop desk of Mr. Gary in the general office. With rare presence of mind, he secured a heavy hatchet and broke out one of the 36x36 inch plate glass windows in the front and getting inside quickly put out the fire with a bucket of water. The fire had started in the waste basket and the basket and its contents were consumed and the fire had crept up into the large drawer extending across the front of the desk and papers were rapidly taking fire in that. The desk itself was badly scorched on one side. The office floor is of tiling and the damage was confined to the desk and its contents and the broken window, all covered by insurance. No alarm was turned in. Automatic extinguishers were directly over the fire, but there was not heat enough to set them off, though there was much smoke.

TOBACCO MARKET

Prices Firm and Quality And Order Very Much Better.

LARGEST SALES OF SEASON.

Receipts at Loose Floor Houses Continue to Steadily Increase.

In the face of apparent unfavorable weather conditions the local tobacco market this week has been the most active during the entire season. The deliveries at the loose floor houses and those at the Imperial, American Snuff, and other large concerns have been enormous and prices strong on all grades. There is no accurate way of securing the actual deliveries, but those who ought to be able to approximate say that the past week's receipts have probably exceeded any week since the opening of the season. The banks have felt the effects of the throb of energy and activity along all lines of business. They have not only paid out great sums of money and checks given for tobacco but the increase in deposits is prima facie evidence that much of the money received on tobacco has found its way into the channels of trade.

The report of the Inspector shows a slight increase in the hoghead business, both in receipts and sales, prices a shade in advance of last week's.

The sales for the week on the loose floors aggregate 680,325 pounds. Sales for season, 5,161,765 against 3,093,650 pounds for the corresponding week in 1913, which is an increase of 2,068,115 pounds.

Below is Inspector Abernathy's weekly report:

Unsold stock Jan. 23, 1914, 909 Hhds.

Receipts for week..... 37 Hhds.

Receipts for year..... 192 Hhds.

Sales for week..... 25 Hhds.

Forest Notes.

The American forestry association has members in every state in the union, in every province in Canada, and in every civilized and semi-civilized country in the world.

Makers of phonographs are aiming to use wood instead of metal in all parts of the instrument where this is possible, in order to increase the mellowness of tone.

On the Pocatello forest, Idaho, 230,000 trees were planted during the past year, and almost half a million in the past three years, fully three-fourths of which are alive and doing well.

Experiments in the use of aspen for shingles show that the shingles do not check in seasoning, and that they turn water satisfactorily, but that they are too easily broken in handling.

There are some whatmore than 500 recognized tree species in the United States, of which about 100 are commercially important for timber. Of the 500 recognized species, 300 are represented in the government's newly acquired Appalachian forests. All American species, except a very few subtropical ones on the Florida keys and in extreme southern Texas, are to be found in one or another of the national forests.

Time Up On 17th.

At the last meeting of the Fiscal Court Committee and the officials of the Christian-Todd Telephone Co., the committee advised the officials that on the 17th of this month the company should be able to supply the committee with the required date upon which to base a franchise. The last meeting probably will be held next Tuesday. On the 20th there will be a special meeting of the Fiscal Court to approve the franchise and advertise it for public sale. The best of feeling exists between the committee and Telephone Co., but the committee has not granted the 60 days asked for, as stated in Thursday's issue of this paper.

Setting The Pace.

Eddyville is going to have its first Chautauqua this summer and in the list of guarantors appears the names of three former Hopkinsville men, who can always be relied upon to to keep step with the march of progress. PEMBROKE COUPLE

Came Here and Were Married Wednesday Night.

A quiet marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. W. R. Goodman, pastor of the Second Baptist church, at his home last Wednesday night. The principals were Miss Laura E. Barger and Mr. Chas. Watts, popular young people of Pembroke. Accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Butler, a sister each of the bride and groom and Mr. Robert Easton. The party drove through in the afternoon and after having procured the license they went to Mr. Goodman's home and were married at 8 o'clock. After the ceremony they returned to Pembroke, where the bride and groom will make their home.
